Caesarstone – high-quality quartz surfaces

The first in the world!

- The international brand Caesarstone was founded in Israel in 1987 and has since earned the right to be called legendary.
- Since developing the world's first quartz countertop, Caesarstone has been uncompromising in quality, natural composition, proprietary textures, and manufacturing according to the Italian Breton technology.
- Caesarstone is the choice of strong, demanding people who know the original products' value.

A global brand with a legendary history

- Due to its high performance, quartz is successfully used all over the world for kitchen countertops, food preparation areas, bathroom vanities, flooring, stairs, and windowsills.
- Caesarstone has a presence on two continents. Two Caesarstone Ltd factories are located in Israel and serve customers' needs in Europe and Asia. Another Richmond Hill, Georgia, USA factory supplies the American market with high-quality quartz.

Hygienic and environmentally friendly

Quality control at every stage

- One of the most essential advantages is that Caesarstone slabs are environmentally friendly.
- Caesarstone complies with ecological safety standards for humans and the environment. Quartz surfaces are manufactured in accordance with the following global standards:
 - ISO 9001 Quality management system
 - Set of environmental management system requirements in ISO 14001
 - NSF is the standard for surfaces that come into direct contact with food
 - A kosher certificate means compliance with the rules of Judaism
- The raw materials used in the production of the slabs are subjected to a multi-stage quality control process. Production is divided into different phases that strictly adhere to the sequence and global standards.

The factory polishing ensures quartz remains in its original condition for many years and is damage and abrasion-resistant even during active use.

Why do customers choose Caesarstone?

Uncompromising quality

Advantages of Caesarstone Quartz:

- Strength and durability. Quartz is more robust than granite, impact-resistant, scratch-resistant and very practical for everyday use.
- Aesthetics. Quartz is abrasion and burnout-resistant, allowing the stone to retain its original appearance for many years. This makes quartz surfaces as aesthetically pleasing as possible.
- Heat Resistance. Quartz is not afraid of extreme conditions as well as high temperatures. Its heat resistance makes it an ideal and, more importantly, safe material for a kitchen countertop.
- Original decors. The status of an industry leader and pioneer in setting new trends obliges us always to be a few steps ahead of the competitors. The decors combine natural stone patterns, perfect colour reflection, and patterns down to the smallest details. A stylish classic that never goes out of fashion.

Caesarstone quartz consists of 95% natural, ground stone and 5% synthetic resins and colour pigments. The stone is not only suitable for countertops but also for flooring and stairs. It is very durable and abrasion-resistant.

Why is Caesarstone quartz better than natural stone?

The advantages of quartz over natural stone

The durability of quartz slabs can compete with any natural stone.

- Quartz surfaces are more durable than natural granite;
- Quartz slabs are water-resistant - if you spill water, tea, coffee or wine, there will be no stains or other consequences (not even from ripe and juicy fruits). You can't say the same about the marble;
- Due to the accuracy of the surface decoration, it is difficult to distinguish Caesarstone from natural stone. The quality of the Caesarstone pattern is consistent from batch to batch, making it easy to join the slabs together when making the final product;
- Apart from easy maintenance, quartz slabs do not require to be treated with special chemicals against mould and mildew;
- Non-radioactive.
